Foxtale is a cosmetics company centered on D2C that was founded in Mumbai, India, by Romita Mazumdar in 2021. The company has achieved remarkable growth, attracting attention as a brand that stands out in India’s competitive premium mass cosmetics market, by developing and selling new products through repeated trial production while listening to consumer feedback, with an emphasis on effectiveness and safety.

KOSÉ has been cultivating the market through sales in India, establishing a local subsidiary, KOSÉ Corporation India Pvt. Ltd., in 2013 and launching an exclusive local skincare brand, “Spawake”, in 2014 that was developed to meet the needs of the Indian market. By investing in the rapidly growing Foxtale in India, KOSÉ aims to contribute to the growth of Foxtale while also utilizing Foxtale's marketing knowledge and expertise through a strategic partnership to further improve KOSÉ's presence in the Indian market. Going forward, KOSÉ explores joint businesses with the company through the establishment of a joint venture.

India is one of the world's fastest growing countries and boasts the world's largest population. The size of the beauty and personal care market is approximately 2.5 trillion yen*³, and it is expected to continue to grow going forward. High growth rates are expected for skin care and makeup cosmetics in particular. The market for cosmetics in the middle and high price ranges is currently thriving, and there is an increase in consumers seeking high-value-added products that meet their needs, such as those that emphasize the ingredients and effects. In addition, e-commerce for cosmetics has also been growing significantly in recent years in line with the expansion of the digital environment.

Through this agreement, KOSÉ will further advance its strategy for the Indian market while also expanding the presence of the KOSÉ Group in the Global South and enhancing its corporate value.
